

Patients should attend their appointments as normal

PRESS RELEASE

Tuesday 9th January 2018

If your appointment or procedure has been rescheduled, you will be contacted directly by a member of staff.

It is important that if you are not contacted by hospital staff, that you attend your appointment as planned.

We apologise for any inconvenience caused to patients whose procedures and appointments have been rescheduled.

As always, we would ask patients to only use Accident and Emergency if absolutely necessary. If you are unsure about where you should go, you can call NHS111 at any time night or day for free health advice and to be directed towards the most appropriate health service for your need.
