PRESS RELEASE

Meet the healthcare experts

Teams who provide healthcare services to adults in the community will be throwing open the doors to their clinics to showcase their work to the public.

Teams based at Brierley Hill Health & Social Care Centre will be the latest to take part in the winter series of 'Meet our Experts' events organised by The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust.

People will be able to go behind the scenes and learn more about audiology, podiatry and community physio services at the open evening on Wednesday 26th February. The Trust will also be showcasing its latest innovations in delivering quality patient care in a setting most appropriate to the needs of the individual.

Directors and governors from the Trust will also be there, along with the patient experience team who use feedback to drive improvement of the patient experience. Representatives from other health and social care organisations who work closely with the Trust are also supporting the event. Meet key staff involved with commissioning health services and hear more about plans to shape the way community services are delivered in Dudley.

Similar events have already been held this winter at Guest and Corbett outpatient centres and in theatres at Russells Hall Hospital.

The event is free and tickets can be downloaded from Eventbrite – search on Brierley Hill Health & Social Care Centre. Registration is from 5pm with the event taking place from 5.30-7.30pm.
