

Person Centered Care interventions Cancer – Health and Wellbeing Clinics

Oncology

Patient Information Leaflet

Introduction

This leaflet is for people who are living with cancer. It gives information on health and wellbeing. This leaflet will explain what the benefits of attending the health and wellbeing clinic are.

What is a health and wellbeing clinic?

The health and wellbeing clinic are education and information events.

People who are living with cancer, and those who have had cancer, often have specific support needs. If these needs are not addressed, it can damage their long-term prognosis and their ability to lead an active and healthy life. These needs can include information about treatment and care options, psychological support, advice about financial assistance and support in managing their condition themselves.

Carers also play a vital role in supporting people with cancer and it is important that their needs for information, advice and support are addressed.

Addressing all these needs is central to the National Cancer Survivorship Initiative (NCSI), which is coordinating efforts to improve the quality of services available to people affected by cancer.

Although there have been significant improvements in support for people living with and beyond cancer, more needs to be done so that cancer survivors have the care and support they need to live as healthy a life as possible, for as long as possible.

The aim is that everyone who has had a cancer diagnosis and is living with cancer will have access to a health and wellbeing clinic that will provide the support and information they need to enable them to lead as normal a life as possible.

What are the benefits of the clinic?

It enables people living with cancer, and their families, to manage the effects of their illness by giving them the necessary information and promoting positive lifestyle changes.

Who are they for?

They are for people who are living with cancer. Your clinical nurse specialist will give you an appointment when it is relevant for you to attend. You can bring a relative, a friend or carer along with you.
